MINISTER THINKS 'T WAS THE LATTER

A Startling Phase Develops in Regard to the Mystery Surrounding the Woman

Who Claims That She Is John

B. Ketcham's Wife.

CHICAGO, Nov. 18.—Relatives of the late John B. Ketcham will contest his will, if such an instrument is in existence, on the ground that he was not only of unsound mind at the time he may have signed it, but for ten months previous.

Ketcham's two brothers and two sisters will also deny that their brother was legally married to Minnie Wallace Walkup, who says she was his wife, claiming he was incapable of making any kind of a contract at the time of the alleged marriage. Mr. Purnell, attorney for the Ketchams, has served notice on the Illinois Trust and Savings bank to restrain Mrs. Walkup from having access to the safety box of the dead husband.

Mrs. Walkup's butler, Joseph Keller, suddenly has become an important factor in the pending litigation. Keller, according to his story, accompanied John Ketcham and Mrs. Walkup to Milwaukee on Sept. 24 and was a witness to the ceremony which made them man and wife. The Rev. Mr. Roberts of Milwaukee, who performed the ceremony, opens up rather startling possibilities by saying, when shown a photograph of Keller, that the picture much more resembles the man whom he married to Mrs. Walkup than did the picture of John B. Ketcham.

Several of the butler's prominent features, including a small mustache, which was not a peculiarity of Mr. Ketcham, were carefully noted by the Rev. Mr. Roberts as common to both Keller and the bridegroom of Sept. 24.

The butler had little to say on this subject, but volunteered much information concerning the events of the wedding trip. He claimed that Ketcham and Mrs. Walkup went to a Milwaukee hotel and hurried from there to the parsonage and that Mr. Ketcham's face was not wrapped up in any way.

The Rev. Mr. Roberts says that the bridegroom's face was partly muffled in a shawl, not, however, concealing the mustache. As to this phase of the situation, however, neither Mr. Purnell nor Mr. Ketcham's relatives have anything to say. The attorney would neither affirm nor deny the statement that the pending contest may be upon the question as to whether John B. Ketcham or the butler, Joseph Keller, was the bridegroom on Sept. 24.

To add to the confusion caused by the statement of the Milwaukee minister, the butler, Keller, has disappeared. Keller left the Thirty-fifth street police station last Tuesday night about 10 o'clock, after having answered several questions with what the police claim very evasive replies, with permission to return to the Ketcham house, at 321 Indiana avenue.

He did not return to his mistress's home, however, and inquiry has developed the fact that he has not been seen since his departure from the Thirty-fifth street station.

Tried to Smuggle Tin Plate.

BOSTON, Nov. 18.—Special Treasury Agent Converse J. Smith has received word from Special Employee Dunn, who is stationed on the Canadian border, that he has seized at Eastport, Me., a small schooner with a cargo of 20 boxes of tin plate that had been smuggled into port. This is the first attempt of which the department has knowledge of the smuggling of tin plate into this country.

Librarian Chosen For Springfield.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Nov. 18.—John Cotton Dana of Denver has been chosen librarian of the Springfield City Library to succeed Dr. William Rice, who died in August last. Mr. Dana is one of the leading younger librarians of the country and was president of the American Library association in 1896. He has been in charge of the Denver Public library for eight years.

Dutch Pete Captured.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—Peter Geister, Dutch Pete, the man who, according to Constantine Steger, or Meyer, helped him to murder Steger, the Brooklyn sexton, was arrested last evening at 304 East Eleventh street, and later on four other persons, one a woman, were locked up because of their association with Meyer and as suspicious persons.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—The Military Order of Foreign Wars, New York commandery, are to have their annual banquet in commemoration of the battle of New Orleans at the Brevoort House on Jan. 8. Among the guests who will be present will be many men of note in the army and navy and civil life who are companions of the order.

RELEASED AT LAST.

Members of the Competitor's Crew to Sail For Home.

HAVANA, Nov. 18.—The Competitor prisoners have at last been released from Habana fortress by order of Captain General Planco, acting in accordance with orders from Spain. The men will all sail direct for New York on the steamship Yumuri, which is due there on Nov. 21.

A report says that the order from Spain directed the return of the captured arms to the men just released and of the schooner Competitor to its owner. Admiral Navarro was at first inclined to disobey these instructions, it is said, and contemplated resigning.

Marshal Blanco has requested the authorities in Madrid to send Colonel Escribana, formerly chief of staff of General Weyler, back to Cuba to account for his actions in the matter of cattle supplies.

Doctors Say Alcoholism Killed Her.

NEWBURGH, N. Y., Nov. 18.—Mrs. Amos Tombs, aged 60 years, was found dead in her home in Posttown, a small hamlet four miles from here. Her husband reported the death to a neighbor. Mrs. Tombs' dead body hung over the edge of a couch. There was a deep wound in the forehead, made by some blunt instrument. Coroner Perrott of Newburgh had Tombs, who was stupidly drunk, locked in jail here. Considerable blood was scattered about the room. The doctors think death due to alcoholism, but an inquest will be held to determine. A large quantity of rum was found in the house.

A Blasting Accident.

BOSTON, Nov. 18.—A blasting accident occurred at Brookline yesterday, by which serious injury was sustained by Arthur B. Walker of Grovesville, N. Y., superintendent of the job, and two Italian laborers. It is feared that Walker will not recover. Large water mains are being laid in a trench which had been blasted out of a solid bed of rock. One prepared blast failed to explode, and Walker began to pick around it while the Italians were looking on. Suddenly the charge went off with a loud report, and the three men were fearfully bruised and lacerated.

Badger Game Suspects Discharged.

SARATOGA, Nov. 18.—Anna Eagan and Georgia Lewis of New York city, who were indicted for grand larceny in the second degree for having by the badger game stolen $200 from Thomas B. Lyon of New York city, in Saratoga last summer, have been discharged in Saratoga county court.

Will Appear Before Grand Jury.

SARATOGA, Nov. 18.—A. F. Newman of New York city, brought here to answer to the charge of obtaining money by false representations from J. J. Wanders, proprietor of the Commercial hotel yesterday gave bail for his appearance before the grand jury.

BOLTED IN A HURRY

German Troops Sent the Chinese Helter Skelter.

QUICKLY EVACUATED KIAO CHAU.

It Is Now Stated That the Murder of the Missionaries Near Yen Chu Fu Was Planned by a Mongolian Governor.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—A special dispatch from Shanghai says that the commander of the German cruiser Division, Admiral von Diederich, landed troops at Kiao Chau on Monday morning. The three forts were held by 1,500 Chinese and their guns commanded the fleet. Admiral von Diederich placed his four cruisers immediately opposite, ready to fire, and sent an ultimatum ordering an evacuation of the forts within three hours.

Six hundred German troops and six guns were then landed and began to march forward. The Chinese hesitated for a few moments, and then the whole 1,500 bolted helter skelter across the hills behind the fort. The Germans quietly entered the fortifications, hauled down the Chinese flag and hoisted the German standard, which the warships saluted immediately. The Chinese general, who had his family with him, did not flee, but claimed German protection.

The forts are now held by the Germans, who, it is believed at Shanghai, intend to remain permanently. In official Chinese circles Germany is considered to have committed an act of war, but it is regarded as improbable that China, on account of her weakness, will take action upon it, as such.

American and British warships have been ordered to Kiao Chau to watch developments. The greatest interest is felt as to the result of Germany's action because the region is immensely rich in minerals and the harbor the best along the coast.

It is now asserted that the murder of the two German missionaries near Yen Chu Fu was not the work of bandits, as originally understood, but was deliberately planned by Li Pung Hing, governor of the province, prior to his departure for Set Chouan, of which he has been appointed viceroy.

Emperor William Interested.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—The Berlin correspondent of The Daily Chronicle says: "Emperor William is devoting considerable attention to the course of affairs in China and yesterday discussed the position of the missionaries with Bishop Anzer, vicar of the German Catholic missions in China."

Chamber of Commerce Banquet.

NEW HAVEN, Nov. 18.—The twenty-fourth annual banquet of the Chamber of Commerce of this city took place in Harmonie hall last evening, and it included representative men of not only state but national reputation. Covers were laid for 200, and there was not a vacant seat. The speakers were United States Senator O. H. Platt, Governor Cooke, Mayor F. R. Farnsworth, Colonel D. P. Heap of Winsted, Captain C. F. Goodrich, president United States Naval college, Newport, R. I.; Professor Henry W. Farnam, Yale university; Rev. Melville B. Chapman, D. D., New Haven; Hon. George M. Gunn, Milford; Hon. Jeremiah H. Allen, Hartford.

May Be a Wholesale Swindler.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 18.—Charged with swindling a New York grocery man out of a small amount of money, but suspected of conducting extensive swindling operations, Amos Johnson has been arrested here and held for his appearance in New York. Detective Sergeant McConville, who identified Johnson, said he believed him to be one of a gang of swindlers who for the past three months have been purchasing property and paying for it in worthless notes. Before the swindle could be discovered by the owner the property would be sold for cash to a third person.

Stricken by His Conscience.

DANBURY, Conn., Nov. 18.—The strangest criminal the police of this city have had to with in a long time is locked up here. He says he is Harry Gilmore of Middletown, Conn. He walked into the police station and laid two watches, some shoes, an overcoat and a variety of other articles upon the desk in front of Sergeant Bradley. He said he was a burglar, tired of wrongdoing, and wanted to be locked up. Investigation proved his story to be true.

Head of a Gold Brick Gang.

BOSTON, Nov. 18.—John Reed, the confidence man arrested on suspicion of being one of the gang that attempted to swindle a farmer last week, turns out to be the leader of a gang of the slickest bunco and gold brick men that have operated in this section in a long time. Evidence has been found connecting Reed and others of the gang not yet arrested with about every big successful confidence or gold brick game worked in New England for six months past.

Might Have Been Lynched.

TULLY, N. Y., Nov. 18.—Fred F. West, a traveling lecturer, was arrested here on the charge of attempting to assault the 6-year-old daughter of Rev. Eli Pittman. Lynching was threatened by a mob, but the father of the young girl dissuaded the excited crowd.

Fond of Princess Kalant.

HONOLULU, via San Francisco, Nov. 18.—Princess Kalant, heir presumptive of the Hawaiian throne, was tendered a grand reception by loyal natives on her arrival from the United States. Many ways the natives showed their affection for her.

MAD FROM A DOG'S BITE.

Horrible Death of Julius Ganski, a Victim of Hydrophobia.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., Nov. 18.—Julius Ganski of Hanover Green was bitten on the back of his right hand nine weeks ago by a rabid dog. A physician was called in, who cauterized the wound. In a short time the man was able to be about, and the wound was fast healing.

Feeling a twinging pain in his right arm and shoulder, he consulted Drs. Evans and Williams of Nanticoke. He told them that he had much difficulty in swallowing fluids. The physicians examined him and found that the man was suffering from genuine symptoms of hydrophobia. The patient soon became so ill that it was impossible for him to take any liquids whatever.

Ganski became very violent late yesterday afternoon and raved so ferociously that four of his watchers fled from the room in terror. Ganski shrieked horribly, smashed his bed and broke every pane of glass in the window. He raved in this manner for nearly half an hour, and then there was silence.

After a time his watchers summoned up courage to open the door and saw Ganski motionless in a corner. He was dead, and in his hands was clasped one of the legs of his bed, which he had used to batter the furniture to pieces in his delirium.

SMUGGLED CHINAMEN.

Action Will Be Commenced Against the C. P. R. on This Charge.

AUBURN, N. Y., Nov. 18.—C. H. Brown, assistant United States attorney, who is conducting the trial of cases in the United States district court here, is authority for a remarkable story in connection with the smuggling of Chinamen to this country.

Mr. Brown says that the cost of deporting Chinamen has been very great and has been on the increase, which is also the case with the smuggling of the Celestials. The government lays the blame for the greater part of the illicit traffic on the employees of the Canadian Pacific railway, and Attorney General McKenna will institute an action against the corporation.

The government avers that the railway employees conspire with the government officials to break the law. A bill of costs is being compiled, and as each deportation costs $500 the total will be very large. When this is done, the action will be commenced. If it can be proved that any other railroad has been a party to breaking the law, an action against it will also be brought.

Murderer Anderson Indicted.

NORFOLK, Nov. 18.—The federal grand jury in the case of the crew of the Olive Pecker convened yesterday and after a session of 4½ hours returned the following true bills: John Anderson, for murder of Captain John W. Whitman, for murder of Mate William Wallace Saunders (two indictments) and for destruction of the vessel; William Horneburgh, John Lind and Juan de Dios Barrial, for destruction of the vessel. Prior to the session of the grand jury Martin Barstad and Andrew March, two of the crew of the Olive Pecker, were given a hearing before United States Commissioner Ackles and acquitted. They were held as witnesses and, being unable to furnish bonds, are now in jail awaiting the trial.

Covered Many Miles.

BENNINGTON, Vt., Nov. 18.—Word has been received here that Ernest Edson, who left this city on July 20 for Lincoln, Neb., on an un navigable river in a boat of his own construction, had reached there safely. Edson, who is 20 years old, resolved to try his fortunes in the west, but was too poor to go by ordinary means and routes of travel. The boat was 12 feet long and 2 feet wide and was provided with oars and a sail. All Edson took were the little boat, $1 in money and the clothes he wore. His route covered 2,300 miles.

Determined to Kill Himself.

MOUNT HOLLY, N. J., Nov. 18.—James Young of Mount-Holly, N. J., after shipping a stick of the Pennsylvania railroad at Philon, Pa., committed suicide by shooting in his own hotel room. The bullet entered Young's brain, and he died instantly. He left a sealed letter addressed to his wife. Two years ago he attempted to kill himself in the same way, but he recovered yesterday. At that time he jumped on the gas and lay down to die. No cause is known for his act.

He Attained His Desire.

BOSTON, Nov. 18.—E. P. Coffin of Roxbury, Mass., died at the City hospital as the outcome of a desperate effort to end his life. He registered at the Quincy House and later was found in a bathtub filled with water. He was nearly drowned, but was revived. Then he stated that he had taken morphine or some other poison, the name of which he declined to state. The physicians who were called sent Coffin to the hospital.

Cashier Robyn Arrested.

PITTSBURGH, Kan., Nov. 18.—Robert Robyn, formerly cashier of the Manufacturers' National bank of Pittsburgh, was in liquidation and who was recently indicted by the grand jury at Fort Scott, charged with making a false statement to the controller regarding the bank's affairs, has been arrested and taken to Fort Scott. Robyn stood high in business and social circles.

Slain by the Law.

NASHVILLE, Nov. 18.—William Lay, who shot and killed C. D. Mansfield on June 15 in Sullivan county, was hanged at Huntsville yesterday.

MRS. NACK VIEWS IT.

Mysterious Saw Identified by the Midwife.

LAWYER HOWE PROMISES SENSATION

Before the Accomplishment of Martin Thorne Leaves the Courtroom After His New Trial She Will Be Accused of Several More Murders.

LONG ISLAND CITY, Nov. 18.—Mrs. Nack was taken from her cell in the Long Island City jail and led into the office of District Attorney Youngs, where she was confronted with Anton Jastensky, who found the rusty and blood stained saw in the meadows near Flushing yesterday.

There were also present in the office Emanuel Friend, her lawyer; Assistant District Attorney Davidson and Police Captain Methven. Mrs. Nack was in the district attorney's office less than half an hour. She was then hurried back to her cell.

Lawyer Friend and District Attorney Youngs refused to talk about the matter and hurried away from the office. It was learned from an authentic source, however, that Mrs. Nack positively identified the saw as the one with which Thorne cut up the body of Guldensuppe and which he tried to hide on the salt meadows.

The saw, as soon as the conference was over, was sent to a chemist, that the stains on it might be examined.

Before she leaves the courtroom after the new trial of Martin Thorne, which begins next Monday, Mrs. Augusta Nack is to be accused of other murders than that of William Guldensuppe.

If her guilt is proved, irrespective of the Guldensuppe affair, she will live the remainder of her life behind prison bars and even then not blot out her debt to the laws of the people.

A list of many of the murders she is alleged to have committed is being compiled by William F. Howe and will be ready before Monday.

Since the confession as to her part in the killing of the bath rubber in the Woodside cottage men have been at work ferreting out every detail of her life with renewed energy. Many new facts have been disclosed, new witnesses found, who will testify that she crushed out other human lives as calmly and with less trouble than the affare of Woodside cottage.

That Mrs. Nack was the direct cause of the death of a young woman who had been the sweetheart of a wealthy New Yorker is now stated by Lawyer Howe, who asserts that he intends to make the full story known at the new trial.

Money was freely distributed. Mr. Howe says, before the young woman died, quite alone, in a small Connecticut city, and Mrs. Nack received more than her share of the wealthy man's liberality.

Mrs. Nack usually confined herself to doing away with babies born under peculiar circumstances; but, as in the case of the young woman who died in Connecticut, other women, Mr. Howe says, never recovered from treatment while in Mrs. Nack's care.

Then Guldensuppe, Mr. Howe argues, was fresh in the heart of the woman who says she helped murder him. She told him of her crimes, though she did not call the killings crime, knowing that her stories would be looked up safe in his heart as long as he loved her.

According to statements in the possession of Lawyer Howe, Mrs. Nack did not tell Thorne that she intended to kill the young woman, but Thorne knows now, as well as Guldensuppe did, that the confiding girl was sent away to die.

If called upon to do so by his counsel, Martin Thorne will tell the details of this girl's death and name the witnesses who can prove it, although it is said he has stated he did not care to do so unless it would add to Mrs. Nack's punishment.

"Mrs. Nack admitted," said Mr. Howe, "that she herself had cremated Guldensuppe's clothes after the murder, all except the shoes. She must have been skilled in the art of cremation of the kind she practiced, or she would never have known enough to scrape the ashes out of the stove to make sure that the buttons on the murdered man's clothing were entirely consumed."

"Anonous of all this cremating, it is just possible—mark von, I say possible—that Guldensuppe's head was cremated instead of having been dropped overboard, as has been so frequently stated."

Mayor Berry Buried.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Nov. 18.—All business was suspended yesterday afternoon in this city. The schools were closed, and civic bodies turned out to attend the funeral of Mayor D. W. Berry. The entire volunteer fire department was in line, when an alarm from the works of the National Saw company, one of the largest factories in this city, was sounded. The city has two horse trucks, a bus and ladders. When the alarm was sounded, the fireman sent the trucks, and the funeral procession continued on its way. The fire was soon extinguished.

Heart Disease Killed Him.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 18.—Austin Pryor, colored, 45 years old, who had just been elected president of the Hotel Brotherhood of the United States, dropped dead while receiving the congratulations of the members of that organization at their headquarters yesterday. Heart disease was the cause.

Big Loss by Fire.

SCRANTON, Pa., Nov. 18.—The No. 3 breaker of the Delaware and Hudson Canal company burned last night from what is thought to have been incendiary origin. The breaker was valued at $75,000. The company carries its own insurance.

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

THE COUNTY'S LEGISLATORS IN ANNUAL SESSION.

Discussing the Cost of Printing Ballots.—Supervisors think the town has charged too much—From 2nd statement. Asked From the Ballot Printers—Miscellaneous Business—The single Superintendent Resolution a special order for Tuesday.

Blotting Grove.—Joseph V. Board, R. 1, Chester, was the first to speak. He said that the town had charged too much for the printing of ballots. He said that the town had charged $100 for the printing of 100 ballots, while he had charged only $50 for the same amount. He said that he had been asked to print 100 ballots for the town, and he had charged only $50 for the same amount. He said that he had been asked to print 100 ballots for the town, and he had charged only $50 for the same amount.

Goshen, Nov. 17.—A goodly portion of this morning's session was taken up with discussion of the printing of ballots. The burden of the complaint seems to come from Supervisors who believe they have been asked to pay too much for the printing of ballots for their several towns. This year the county and town tickets were printed on our blot and there arose the necessity of appointing the cost of the printing between the town and county.

The appointment was made and there is considerable dissatisfaction among Supervisors with their town bills. Last week Mr. Quinn, of Port Jervis, introduced a resolution asking that the printer be paid a reasonable statement of cost of printing ballots and to give to the board their method of paying the cost.

The copy of the Newburgh Journal and News was the subject of the discussion. This matter was then temporarily settled by the introduction of the following resolution by Mr. Long:

Resolved, That the Printing Committee be authorized to return the bills of the Newburgh Journal and the Newburgh Journal and News to the printer, and request that he itemize the bills and state the number of copies of each paper printed and also a list of the names of all persons to whom copies were sent.

On motion all the over the return for unpaid highway taxes were referred to the Law Committee. This was done at the suggestion of Mr. Robinson. Mr. Howard, by resolution, sent all the petitions for the reduction and additions to assessment rolls to the Law Committee.

The Railroad Commissioners of the town of Middletown are in a report. Mr. Keane, who has been in charge of the report, said that the number of passengers on the Newburgh and Middletown Railroad for the year 1916 was 1,000,000. He said that the number of passengers on the Newburgh and Middletown Railroad for the year 1916 was 1,000,000.

A number of coroners' bills were passed last night. Mr. Robert was asked for some information as to the number of cases of pneumonia in the town of Middletown for the year 1916. He said that the number of cases of pneumonia in the town of Middletown for the year 1916 was 100.

RECKLESS SHOOTING.

Several Cases in Which Firearms Have Been Recklessly Discharged.

The firing of a shot about 10:15 a. m. yesterday discharged his weapon at an imaginary target on John street. Two men on the opposite side of the street got behind a telephone pole and when they saw the man in the street they ran down to North street in quest of a policeman. The man who fired the shot was a young man named John Smith. He was a resident of the town of Middletown. He was a resident of the town of Middletown.

Incendary Fires in Sussex County.

The basket factory and cooperage of Broda & Compton, near Branchville, was, with all its contents, destroyed by fire on the night of Nov. 12th. The loss is $50,000 and the insurance only $2,000. J. C. Martin's large barn in the same locality was burned the same night. Four horses and five cows perished in the flames. The fire was undoubtedly of men any origin.

Has Almost Entirely Recovered.

The Monroe Times says A. G. Hooley, who received heavy damages from the fall of Monroe for injuries sustained by falling from a bridge, was in that place last week. He has recovered so far as to walk around apparently as well as ever. He, however, experiences some trouble with his back and head.

A Giant Nerve Builder.

The Mystic Life Renewer is the most powerful nerve builder known. It absolutely cures all forms of nervous diseases and weakness no matter how aggravated or of how long duration, such as neuritis, nervous prostration, nervous paroxysms, St. Vitus's dance, palpitation of the heart, physical and mental weakness, debility of old age etc. Sold by J. E. Mills, No. 2 Empire Block, Druggists, Middletown.

ON THE TIP OF THE TONGUE.

A coincidence was the ringing of box 17, Wednesday, on the 17th of the month. There had been no call for the department since the Dougherty grocery store fire, East Main street, and many firemen remarked that a blizzard was about due, Wednesday.

When the alarm rang the drivers were in the truck houses. They pitched the horses quickly, mounted the seats, and went away rapidly. Turning into North street the funeral procession could be seen halted at the North street crossing. Chief Higham stood at the Trust Company's building as the flying horse appeared, and turned them down Roberts street, and the funeral party passed on. The chief ordered the last four in each company to respond to the alarm and hurried to the scene with them.

Down in the saw shop's tempering room a blaze had started, and the workmen had attached the factory hose, and soon had the fire under control. The recall was sent in, and the crowd dispersed. George N. Clonson, who was at the scene, remarked:

"I am sorry that an alarm was sent in. Our men handled it easily." The incident served to again demonstrate that Chief Higham is the right man in the right place, and that the fire department is well disciplined and may be depended upon under all circumstances.

A man walked to and fro on North street, Wednesday night, his head extended from the Western Union office to Bull & Youngblood's. He was not noticed until he was seen by a patrolman at 7:30, and at 12:30 he was still on duty. He was seen by a patrolman at 7:30, and at 12:30 he was still on duty.

FOUR BOXES DID IT.

Remarkable success of a New Pile Cure. People who have suffered for years or months from the pain and inconvenience of that common disorder, piles, will look with skepticism upon the claims of the makers of the new discovery for cure of hemorrhoids or piles, known under the name of Pyramid Pile Cure; nevertheless, the extraordinary cures performed by this remedy are such as to warrant the investigation of any sufferer. As a case in point the following letter speaks for itself.

Henry Thomas of Substation No. 3, Hosack ave., Columbus, Ohio, writes as follows: "Pyramid Pile Cure: Gentlemen—I want you to use my name and I will be as any use to you. I was so bad with the piles that I lost work on that account. Nothing did me any good. I read in Cincinnati of the many cures of piles by the Pyramid Pile Cure and I went to a drug store and asked for it. The drug clerk told me that he had some thing else that he thought was better, but I told him that I wanted to try the Pyramid Pile Cure.

The first box helped me so much that I tried another and then to complete the cure used two more boxes, in all four in all. I am now completely cured. I have not a trace of piles and I had suffered for four years with the worst form of protruding piles. I suffered death from piles, but I have found the Pyramid Pile Cure to be just as represented. I have recommended it to several of my friends and I am thankful to be able to write you what good the remedy has done for me."

Physicians recommend the Pyramid Pile Cure because it contains no opium, cocaine, or mineral poison of any kind, and because it is so safe and pleasant to use, being painless and applied at night. The patient is cured in a surprisingly short time with no inconvenience whatever. The Pyramid Pile Cure is sold by druggists at 50 cents per package, and if there is any constipation it is well to use the Pyramid Pile Cure at the same time with the Pile Cure, as constipation is very often the cause of piles and the pills effectively remove the constipation. Price of pills 25 cents per package.

Write to Pyramid Drug Co., Albion, Mich., for book on cause and cure of piles; sent by mail free.

FOOT BALL WITHOUT A BALL.

A Party of Youngsters Who Had Caught the Real Spirit of the Game.

A party of six or seven youngsters, whose ages ranged from seven to eleven years, were assembled on a West Main street lawn, yesterday afternoon.

They had been skylarking, playing tag and wrestling, when finally one of the youngest of the lot suggested a game of foot ball. An older boy rejected the proposition on the ground that there was no foot ball with which to play. The little fellow said:

"Ah! what's the matter with yer; we don't need no ball. We can play de game without one. Line up dere, an' our side'll run through yonse fellers. Come on, we don't need no ball."

Young as they were, the crowd of little fellows seemed to have caught the spirit of the modern game of foot ball, and the struggle which followed suggested the thought of Hamlet with the melancholy Dane let out.

WURTEMBERG.

Special Y. M. C. A. Service—A New Canal Bridge—A Message to W. J. Christien—Personal and Local Notes.

The Y. M. C. A. will hold a special service at the Reformed Church, next Sunday evening, Nov. 21. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

Mrs. Chas. Henry has several fine canaries, excellent singers, for sale. Miss Gusse Parsells is visiting in New York city.

Ham Brown, a New York Journal reporter, spent Sunday in town. I. S. Dubois is erecting a large barn on his lot.

The D. and H. people are erecting a new bridge over the canal at the "Shorty Brown" place, near Haven.

In this past Wallace J. Christien occasionally furnished the writer with Sullivan county club news. Should he read this article we would like for him to write us his story of the recent tragedy. This he could easily do without disclosing his whereabouts, even to your correspondent.

We understand that Mr. Fulton, Sheriff-elect, has not yet appointed an Under Sheriff.

Charles A. Stanton in confirming our last week's report in regard to his employing a dozen men shaving his, says he wants to employ another dozen at once to cut his eyebrows.

Alfred Morris, of South Dakota, formerly in this place, is visiting his parents in this village. He is looking fine.

Richard Day's handsome new cottage will, after Jan. 1, be occupied by Rev. M. V. Atwood, pastor of St. Joseph's Church.

Emma E. Smith, our lady merchant, visited Albany, Troy, Schenectady and other towns last week, in the prosecution of his business.

C. G. Bennett, Jr., and his brother, Will, of Kingston, (who has been visiting at his parents' home here,) spent several days with their brother, George, O. and W. agent at Apex, N. Y.

The large weeping willow tree in the rear of M. E. Stanton's residence, was blown down by the high wind of Tuesday night of last week.

Mrs. Ambrose Langley has been seriously ill, but is now improving.

Louis G. G. has gone to the State of Maine, where he has a "bossing" on public works.

The D. and H. will probably give out permits until Saturday, Nov. 27.

$100 Reward, $100.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Catarrh being the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Catarrh is not an internal, acting directly upon the blood, mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature to do its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for lists of testimonials. Address F. L. THE TEMPERATURE.

The following was the reading of the thermometer at Frank's drug store, today:
a. m. 28, 12 m. 32, 3 p. m. 39°

THURSDAY, NOV. 18, 1897.

Mr. Ketchum's resolution reducing the number of Superintendents of the Poor from three to one, which has been made a special order for Tuesday next, ought to be passed by the Supervisors. It is in the interest of economy and a more careful and efficient management of the county's poor affairs. The Supervisors adopted the three superintendents' system, a number of years ago, as the easiest and surest way of ending an administration of the county's poor affairs that had become so recklessly extravagant that it was onerous and intolerable. Results amply justified the wisdom of the change, but the emergency that made three superintendents necessary no longer exists and it is folly to continue to pay three men for doing the work that can be done just as well by one man.

If the Supervisors do away with three Superintendents, it is proposed to vest the Committee on Superintendents' Accounts with new powers and duties. It is proposed that the committee shall make all contracts for supplies for the almshouse, audit all bills and, in short, have general supervision of the county's poor affairs. It is estimated by Supervisors, who have looked into the matter, that a saving of at least $10,000 a year can be effected in the cost of maintaining the county's poor if the proposed change is made.

We are sorry to learn that there is a disposition on the part of certain Republican Supervisors to oppose the change to one Superintendent on the ground that three years hence, when Superintendents Hasbrouck and Sutherland have served out their terms, a Democratic Superintendent, Mr. Wood, will be in office alone. To oppose the change for such a reason would be peanut politics run mad. We are not ready to believe that any Supervisor will be influenced by such a contemptible consideration. If this measure in the interest of economy and a better administration of the county poor affairs is beaten the people will know the reason why. If Republican Supervisors object for political reasons the people will see to it, next fall, that there is another Democratic Superintendent elected. They will reckon, too, when the time comes, with Supervisors who stand in the way of economy.

POLICE DEPARTMENT'S BUSY TIME

Twenty-nine Tramps and Prisoners in the Lockup, Last Night—Patrolmen Ordered to Use Extra Vigilance—Prisoners at the Bar.

The police department has been kept busy for the past thirty-six hours. They haven't got all the law-breakers, but they rounded up, Wednesday night, twenty-nine tramps and prisoners, filling the lockup to its fullest capacity.

When the officers went out on their beats, Wednesday night, Capt. Vebor told them that after midnight they must investigate every man about the streets, men with bundles in particular. Patrolmen, he said, had the right to know who night wanderers are, and no honest man would complain at being investigated by a policeman.

The men went out and pulled in two men for intoxication and two for assault.

A man from Greenville while very drunk, Wednesday afternoon, made trouble at George G. Otis's house, on Bennett Hill. Later he found the door of John A. Wallace's house, on East Main street, open and went in and roomed all over the house. Mr. Wallace's men ejected him and later he was arrested at the corner of East Main and Roberts streets. This morning he was penitent, pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $3.

A man from Mount Hope was taken in on James street. He pleaded guilty and paid $3.

A young man who lost his temper because the night man in Jack's lunch wagon wouldn't loan him an umbrella, was arrested and fined $5.

The police were actively searching saloons during the night, and the word spread that they were on the track of a safe crackman who was spending money freely. Of course the police were not on any such fool chase, but they were after "Hambone" Anderson, a colored individual, who always gets into trouble when he's drunk. He had thrashed Frank Brown, another colored resident of Fulton street. He was finally captured in a Fulton street saloon and locked up. He will be tried at 7 o'clock tonight.

FUNERAL OF DR. ALLEN.

Large Attendance at the Services in the First Congregational Church. This Afternoon.

Funeral services were held in the First Congregational Church, at 2 o'clock, today, over the remains of the late Dr. George Allen. Rev. Drs. Robinson and Gordon officiated.

The casket was opened before the services and many availed themselves of the opportunity to take a last look at the remains. The casket was banked with many floral pieces, among them a pillow "rest," from Mrs. Allen; collection of palms, large palm leaves, and flowers, cross of palm leaves and carnations, from State Hospital managers; Misses Agnes and Helen Gray, cressantums; Mrs. S. H. Talbot, wreath of white roses, pink and white carnations and violets; sickle of roses, from the Sunday School of the First Congregational Church; wreath, from the trustees of the church; cluster of white carnations and smilax, Miss Minger; crossed cyrus palms and roses, Mr. and Mrs. F. O. Rockafellow; cluster roses and carnations, Miss Olive A. Carpenter, Miss Anna Rodding; pillow of roses from Talbot Hall nurses; cluster of carnations, Miss Hamiston, Miss Comstock; cluster Matechal Neil roses, Mr. and Mrs. F. P. S. Crane; flat bunch white and pink roses, Grinnell and Pierson cottages; flat bunches, Mrs. Farmer, Miss Connell, Miss Hammond, Mrs. Lacey, Miss O'Hara, Miss Donovan, Miss Langan.

During the services musical selections were rendered by a quartette consisting of Messrs. Marvin and Greene and Misses Marvin and Howland. At the cemetery the ground about the grave was strewn with roses, palm and evergreens.

The medical staff of the institution, many attendants and the Board of Managers attended the services.

The pall bearers were four of the staff attendants at the State Hospital: George Loder, A. C. Parlin, John Reimington and M. J. Goff.

"I was completely covered with sores. Every limb in my body ached. Had been sick for five years. Doctors could not do me no good. Most of my time was spent in bed; was a complete wreck. Blood Humors have completely cured me in three months." — Mrs. Annie Zeppen, Crookstown, Minn.

"Blood Humors entirely cured me of a terrible breaking out all over my body. It is a wonder of medicine." — Miss Julia Elbridge, box 35, West Cornwall, Conn.

A SONG OF HOME.

The harmonious hum of the household flies. The song with its keen, green-shuttered eyes. The rose in the cup, on the table set. The rose in the window, growing yet. And the red as of rose in the lips of my love.

Ah, this is home and the joy thereof! The buzz of the flies through the sunny day. And the echoing drone from the fields, away.

From the hush of a bush a wee bird's thrill. And the sunshine, prone on the window-sill.

A flinging wind in the folds of lace. Where the daybeams lie, and the radiant face. And welcoming eyes of my own dear love— Ah, this is home and the joy thereof!

The song of the flies in the cottage room. And the faint perfume of the rose's bloom. The song of the lace as it sways in the air. And the song of the wind in my dear love's hair.

As it ripples in waves on her pallid brows. Or strays to her breast and nestles there. The song of the shadows—half a drowse. The song of her voice with its tender vows.

And the song in my soul for my own dear love— Ah, this is home and the joy thereof!

The drone of the flies and the day's work done. The shadows lengthening, one by one. And the heart content with the toil's reward.

Of a nearer goal and hope assured; A clear mark set and a purpose sure. To strive and, if need be, to endure; Then, the cheer and trust of my own dear love— Ah, this is home and the joy thereof!

The harmonious hum of the household flies; The cat with its quaint, queer-shuttered eyes; The rose in the cup and the rose outside; The red as of rose in the lips of my love; A cottage that shelters my own dear love— Ah, this is home and the joy thereof!

The Women of the Moon.

By William Lightfoot Vischer.

There's a portrait of a woman on the moon. It is graven on the shining silver disc; It's a face that has the hint of a smile. And the hus-relief as cameo or bisque. She's as handsome as a rose in early June. This fair and lovely woman of the moon.

A mystery's this portrait on the moon. That was graven by the Master hand above; 'Tis a mystery as deep as ancient rune. And perplexing as the woman that we love. She is fairest in the autumn night's high noon. This pure and lovely woman of the moon.

It was erst a man we pictured in the moon; It is better that a woman should be there. With the roses and the lilacs round her strewn. And the light of heaven, shining on her.

When the one we love is absent we may croon To the lovely woman graven on the moon.

"WHY, that's good, Jim, how did you come to do it? Are you moonstruck?"

"Moon struck. Of course I am moon struck. So would you be if you were in my place. There's a little story connected with this, old fellow, and if you are in the mood to listen, I will tell it to you."

"All right, Jim, spiel away. How long's it?"

"Well, about one good cigar, I reckon."

"That's just the right length, for Julie will expect me in an hour."

"Julie will expect you? Where?"

"At the Union depot."

"At the Union depot?"

"That's what I said."

"Well, say, Tom, you've got a better story than mine. Tell it to me, please, and I'll tell you mine afterwards."

"I don't mind. My story is only about four whiffs, if that, and if you will cut yours that much we can get them both in before I have to go. Mine is simply this: I met her at Hotel del Monte, when I got there in June, the sweetest woman I ever saw. Her name was Winthrop, Julie Winthrop, and now it is Julie Jones, and that is better. More distinctive, you see. Of course I fell in love with her, and in dead, hard earnest. I am in the habit of falling in love with attractive women, but the cups d'Amour, if I may be allowed the term, was never a knockout until this one.

Julie didn't seem to reciprocate, and to tell you the truth I don't believe she does now, even now, as much as she does any other fellow that I don't know. But she will never see him again; at least she never will except by accident.

"At the married me, I intended to respond to her that she will forget another fellow in time, and pretty soon, I think."

"We were married in September and she crossed the continent, to St. Louis, driving there about the 15th. I had one business in Louisville that would require a few days, and then I wanted to run up there and see you, so she decided to visit some friends while I was away, Louisville and Chicago. She is to meet me tonight, and we are going on down together. That's my story. Pretty good one, isn't it?"

"Yes, quite to the point at least. Have you told your Julie anything of me—that is to say, of our friendship?"

"No, my dear fellow, I've been saving that for dessert, so to speak. I want to tell you on her later. The fact is I am waiting for her yet, and I don't want to be thought that I care a little bit for anybody else in the world but her until I have won her love good and certain. Then I want you to come and see us up there on the Hudson and stay till you just have to come back to town to attend to your knitting. Why, what's the matter, old man? Are you ill?"

"No, it's just the pipe. It's too strong. Often does me that way. I must quit it."

"Good idea. I never could stand a pipe. But can't you go on with your story? I've told mine."

"It doesn't amount to much, and since I come to think, it is hardly worth

A famous painting shows the infant Napoleon in the chamber of his birth, and shows his mother watching over him. The mother of Napoleon was a strong, healthy, active woman. She brought into the world a family of smart, handsome, healthy children. Without health and strength Napoleon would never have risen above the position in which he was born. His mother could not give him wealth or high station in life, but she gave something better. She gave him the ability to secure these things for himself. She equipped him with a strong body and a clear intellect. Every mother may do as much for her son. The first step in this direction is perfect health for herself. Perfect health in a womanly way. She must take thought for the most important and delicate organs of the body. She must keep them strongly healthy for the performance of the greatest and most wonderful work in the world. Women do not sufficiently appreciate the importance of health and carefulness. This is shown by the dreadful prevalence of so-called "Female Complaints." Every woman may be strong and healthy by taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is not a cure-all. It is intended to cure just one kind of disease, and it cures it. It works directly on the female organs, cleanses, strengthens and makes them healthy. It makes weak women strong, and if it is taken during the period of gestation, it insures health for the child; and, at the time of parturition, comparative freedom from the pains and dangers erroneously believed to be unavoidable.

The physiology of women, in health and disease, is contained in Dr. Pierce's great work, the "Common Sense Medical Adviser." A copy of this book, paper-covered, free to anyone who will send at once one cent stamp to the nearest drug store, to World's Dispensary Medical Association, No. 662 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

telling. But it may be of some advantage to you one of these days, so I will tell it:

"I have been in love with a woman all my life. We grew up together. Our homes adjoined each other in the Kentucky village where we were born and raised, and we have been sweethearts since she was 12 and 17. Even before that, I reckon, but we were too young to know it. Now she is 25 and I am 30 and we were to have been married last spring, but a financial affair prevented and we put it off until next winter. I had about $5,000 saved up, but my sweetheart's father, who was a very well-to-do man, wanted to use that amount in a scheme of some kind and I loaned it to him. He invested it with a large sum of his own—in a land deal, he said, and—well he hasn't got it back yet."

"That's just like you, Jim, you can paint, but you haven't got as much business sense as a monkey."

"Thank you, but you are using up time. I must finish my story."

"Have you got any security for that money?"

"No."

"Have you got anything to show where it went to?"

"Yes."

"Well, that's something."

"I think it's worse than nothing, but I will show it to you directly. I have not seen my sweetheart since last spring. She and her father went away on a trip together, and when we parted we agreed to think of each other at eight o'clock every evening and talk as if we were talking to each other."

"To catch my train I had to bid her good-by at that hour, and it happened that the full moon was shining. I outlined to her the face of the woman on the moon, and showed her how much the face was like her own. Since then I have sketched and painted that face, and I'll show you that also. Besides, I have written the verses above it that I read to you just now. The picture and the verses are both bad, I know. No painter could do justice to the face in the moon, or to that of my sweet heart, but I did both when in a happier mood than I am right now."

"That's about all there is to it, Tom, except the receipt for my money and the portrait I spoke of. But the receipt is in the shape of a letter, and I won't read it to you unless you agree not to ask me what its postmark is, and the name signed to it. That is another man's secret."

"All right, old man, whatever you say goes."

"Here it is:"

"My Dear James: I have not only gambled away all of my own money and all I could raise on my property, but I have also gambled away what I borrowed from you. My daughter has been led by me to believe that I loaned you my money, and that you have betrayed me by losing it at the gambling table. I make to you this humiliating confession because I am on my death bed. It shows what gambling will lead to, even as old a man as I am. But before I die I shall tell my daughter the whole truth, and you will be reinstated in her good graces. I give her to you, and I hope and pray she will be in some measure a restitution to you. I can say no more. I am too weak to write more. Please forgive me. Yours in all penitence."

(This letter was dated at the Hotel del Monte, August 15, 1897, and was signed "Charles Winthrop.")

"My God, Jim, do you think the old man died without telling you his sweetheart the truth?"

"No, of course not. He told her, and I shall hear from her soon."

"I hope so, my dear fellow. I am sure you deserve to be happy."

"And here is the picture on this case. There, the envious cloth is now out of the way. Isn't she handsome?"

"Great—Why, Jim, that is the portrait of my wife."

"Impossible. I painted it from the woman in the moon, but if you think it resembles your Julie I will give it to you. I can paint another. Look, there is my model. See how she beams through the window."

"I won't say I hate to rob you, old fellow, for I don't. I know you can paint another, and this will so delight my sweet Julie. Why you must be anxious to get rid of it, to have wrapped it so quickly."

"I am anxious for you to have it, Tom, if it will make you and your Julie happy."

"What a glorious old fellow you are, Jim. But time's up. Good-by, old man."

"Good-by, Tom. Write me all about yourself, and if you ever need me let me know. I think I would almost make a sacrifice at any time to serve you."

"I know you would, Jim, but you haven't got a monopoly on that."

"They parted as the friends that they were. Tom Jones went out into the crisp autumn night, whistling a merry tune. And James Hamilton, philosopher, poet, painter and hero, twisted Charles Winthrop's letter, caught a blaze to it from the gas jet, and when it had burned almost to burning his fingers threw the charred paper in the grate."

"I must submit to all this for the sake of my friend," he said. "Tom is happy. That will do for both. And I—I have the woman in the moon."—Carter's Monthly.

Defends His Friend.

"My friend, the candidate for sheriff," said the earnest citizen, "is a fine man and you ought to vote for him."

"But," objected the other man, "he's running on a platform that practically advocates free riot and anarchy."
